department or plant. Each assignment will be accompanied by a project or process improvement challenge. It is the perfect combination to enlarge your know-how by multiple experiences!

- You will be assigned to a Mentor and will work with experienced colleagues, who will ensure you receive all the continuous support, training and information about our different activities and business units in order to be successful. But responsibility for the deliverables lies with you off course!

How will you meet this challenge

- You graduate in 2022 and will obtain your Master's Degree in a technical or scientific field (e.g. bio engineering, civil or industrial engineering, operations management...). You can show proof of excellent study results and extracurricular activities.
- You like a technical and operational challenge and you are fully mobile to work in different business areas and locations in Belgium.
- You are fluent in Dutch, English and French.
- You are a born team player, who reach goals through collaboration and takes accountability.
- You are an analytical problem solver with a hands-on mentality who is eager to get things done.

What's in it for you

- We offer you the best start of your career, in an innovative, growing and financial strong company with international appeal.
- You will get responsibilities as of the first assignment and be supported in your growth through an on-the-job training program and mentoring by experienced colleagues.
- You get the chance to participate in in-house and/or external training courses such as project management, leadership skills...
- We offer extensive benefits in terms of a company car, insurance, telecom and flexibility, in addition to a competitive salary.
